RESIDENTIAL ART

This stunning glass, stone, wood and steel house makes a declarative statement about what modern coastal architecture can be. Exciting at first glance from the village below, one step inside and cutting edge design envelopes every sense. And then, of course, there's the view. The house enjoys a rarely afforded perspective with epic panoramas stretching for miles, the horizon changing character by the hour. This connection to the exterior is vital to every area within the residence, and with so many sculptural forms presiding, the sense of harmony between art and nature is palpable throughout every room. Like no other on Salt Spring Island!
